SO YOU WANT TO TEACH ABROAD?

Florida State University Internationals Programs is proud to offer the opportunity to teach abroad. This incredible experience allows faculty members to immerse themselves in foreign cultures, engage their students in hands-on learning experiences, and gain personal and professional rewards from their time abroad.

5 UNIQUE TEACHING OPTIONS

- Faculty members have the option of staying for a semester, full year, or a spring break session in one of these four locations:
  - Beijing, China
  - London, England
  - Mexico City
  - Paris, France

- Our teaching programs are offered in a range of subject areas. Each host location offers many different programs, including academic programs and programs focused on language learning, culture, and international business.

APPLICATION TIMELINE

1. Applications Open
2. Approval Form
3. Submit & Review
4. Letters Sent
5. Final Approval

An application is used to apply for one of the programs offered by Florida State University Internationals Programs. The application process typically takes about six weeks to complete. After the application is submitted, it is reviewed by the program director and the application is sent to the program director for a final review. The application is then sent to the faculty member for final approval.

AN EXPERIENCE OF A LIFETIME.

Teaching abroad is an enriching and rewarding experience for both faculty members and Program Leaders in locations all around the globe. Maintaining high teaching standards on overseas programs requires thoughtful effort and considerable skill. There will be opportunities to interact with students in cultural activities outside of the typical classroom environment and to develop meaningful relationships with faculty and staff.
